

United Nations Human Rights Appeal 2017

“The world has entered a period of profound uncertainty. More than ever, we need strong partners to stand with us. With support, we can undertake strong preventive work, including for early warning and the prevention of hatred, xenophobia and violence. We can promote a broadening of inclusive democratic space; advance sound migration governance; and give strong support to the grounding of the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda in human rights. This is why your support is essential.”
