UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE SYRIAN ARAB REPUBLIC

The Second Cycle Of The Universal Periodic Review (2016)

This guidebook has been produced with the financial support of the European Union
The Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) for Syria is pleased to provide this compilation of human rights recommendations made to the Syrian Arab Republic in 2016, in the context of the second Universal Periodic Review (UPR) cycle of the UN Human Rights Council.

The UPR is one of the largest and most effective platforms to assess the human rights situation in a given country through a peer review. It provides an opportunity for decision makers as well as civil society actors to identify key human rights challenges and the structural gaps that make it difficult to overcome those challenges.

This booklet is intended to serve as a reference for public policy officials in Syria and civil society organisations who can also use it as a baseline reference in their programming. It also addresses other stakeholders, including Member States of the United Nations as well as international donors who are interested in sponsoring initiatives that help translate UPR recommendations into concrete actions on the ground.

As the third UPR cycle for the Syrian Arab Republic approaches, achieving progress in the implementation of these recommendations will strengthen the link between international dialogue and national policies, and set the stage for greater steps towards the realisation of human rights for all Syrians.

I hope you will find inspiration and insight in reading this booklet.

* ANNEX: List of noted recommendations .................................................................................... 20
WHAT IS THE UPR?

The UPR is a unique mechanism through which the Human Rights Council periodically reviews the human rights records of all 193 Member States of the United Nations and the fulfilment of their human rights obligations. It provides an opportunity for states to describe actions taken to improve the human rights situation and to overcome challenges to the enjoyment of specific rights. It also involves sharing best human rights practices around the globe.

The review is based on three documents: a national report prepared by the State under review; a compilation of United Nations information on the State under review prepared by OHCHR; and a summary of information submitted by other stakeholders (including civil society actors), which is also prepared by OHCHR.

The review takes place in Geneva and is undertaken by the Working Group on the UPR, which is composed of the 47 Member States of the Human Rights Council. The review takes the form of an interactive dialogue between the State under review and the member and observer States of the Council. According to Resolution 5/1, the State under review can either ‘support’ or ‘note’ a recommendation. States may not “reject” recommendations but they may provide comments on “noted” recommendations, including explanations on why they do not support said recommendations. Supported recommendations should be implemented by the next review. During the following plenary session of the Human Rights Council, a final outcome document is adopted containing the report of the Working Group and the responses of the State under review. Oral statements are delivered by civil society groups and other stakeholders who comment on the UPR review.

HOW CAN CIVIL SOCIETY ORGANISATIONS ENGAGE IN THE UPR?

Resolution 5/1 provides for the participation of all relevant stakeholders in the process. Accordingly, the participation of civil society actors is envisaged at different stages throughout the UPR cycle:

1. Preparation for the review
   - CSOs can take an active part in the national consultation process to be organised by the State under review in preparation for

2. Review and adoption phase
   - During the session of the Working Group, CSOs in consultative status with the ECOSOC can be accredited to attend as observers. CSOs cannot intervene during the review itself.
   - During the Human Rights Council session to adopt the UPR reports, CSOs can make written or oral statements, and organise side events.

3. Implementation of recommendations

- CSOs can raise awareness about the UPR recommendations.
- CSOs can monitor and report to the Human Rights Council on progress in the implementation of the state of recommendations.
- CSOs can submit to OHCHR follow-up information on the implementation of UPR outcomes.

.implmentation
- Raise awareness about the UPR outcome and progress
- Monitor and report on progress to the HRC including mid-term reports
- Cooperate with other stakeholders for implementation

preparation for the review
- Participate in national consultation
- Advocacy and awareness-raising about UPR
- Submit information

review
- Attend UPR WG sessions
- Make written and oral statements during HRC session
- Organise side events
- Advocacy and awareness-raising about the UPR
This booklet is a compilation of recommendations addressed to the Syrian Arab Republic within the context of the second cycle of the UPR which took place during the 26th UPR Working Group Session from 31 October to 11 November 2016. A total of 231 recommendations were made, of which the Syrian Arab Republic supported 156. In its reply, the Government noted that out of the 156 supported recommendations, two were partially supported, 82 were in the process of being implemented, and 25 were considered as already implemented and remain supported with reservation concerning the use of “hostile language”. A total of 73 recommendations did not enjoy support of the Government and were only considered as noted.

The booklet focuses on recommendations which enjoyed support of the Government. They were compiled and clustered in five thematic areas: the national and international institutional framework for the protection of human rights in Syria; the protection of groups risking discrimination; civil and political rights; economic, social and cultural rights; and measures pertaining to human rights in humanitarian assistance. In some instances, the recommendations were rephrased to facilitate their grouping.

I. INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK

A. International cooperation on human rights issues

I. COOPERATION WITH HUMAN RIGHTS MECHANISMS AND OHCHR

- Cooperate with the United Nations human rights mechanisms (109.79 Republic of Korea);
- Cooperate with the Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary Disappearances (109.82 Belgium);
- Cooperate with the internal United Nations Board of Inquiry on its investigation into attacks on the United Nations-Syrian Arab Red Crescent relief operation (109.37 Republic of Korea).

II. FOLLOW-UP AND GENERAL MEASURES OF IMPLEMENTATION

- Withdraw its reservations to articles 2 and 15 (4) of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (109.7 Sierra Leone).

III. SUGGESTED NEW RATIFICATIONS

- Consider ratifying all core human rights conventions (109.1 Algeria);
- Ratify the Optional Protocols to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (109.3 Guatemala, 109.4 El Salvador);
- Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture (UPR 109.5 Uruguay);
- Ratify the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance (109.6 Uruguay, 109.7 Sierra Leone);
- Ratify the Arms Trade Treaty (109.8 Uruguay);

7 Reservation to Art.2. Of CEDAW was lifted through decree 230/2017 as long as it does not contradict Sharia Law. Law #4 to amend articles of the personal status law was issued in March 2019.

8 Supported recommendation with the exception of the provision related to the abolition of death penalty
IV. COOPERATION WITH MEMBER STATES

- Continue to promote dialogue with all States, on the basis of mutual respect, sovereign equality, self-determination and the right to choose their own political, economic and social system (109.18 Democratic People’s Republic of Korea);
- Continue cooperating with the international community to alleviate the effects of the crisis on Syrian citizens (109.33 Nicaragua, 109.36 Nigeria).

B. National Framework

I. NATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

- Consider establishing an independent National Human Rights Institution in accordance with the Paris Principles (109.27 Russian Federation, 109.28 Algeria);
- Strengthen its institutional framework to allow it to defend its sovereignty and protect the human rights of its people (109.29 Indonesia, 109.17 Nicaragua, 109.26 Bolivian Republic of Venezuela).

II. PEACE PROCESS

- Continue supporting international efforts and cooperating with the United Nations to find a political solution (109.19 Guatemala, 109.63 Japan, 109.64 Nicaragua, 109.65 Sudan, 109.67 to 109.77 Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, Algeria, Argentina, China, Cuba, Egypt, Holy See, Iceland, Indonesia, 109.31 Italy, 109.32 Argentina);
- Implement Security Council resolutions in order to facilitate a (peaceful) political transition led by the Syrian people and based on the Geneva communiqué (109.19 Guatemala);
- Implement the cessation of hostilities agreement to achieve a full, comprehensive ceasefire which will provide the grounds for improving human rights (109.20 Egypt).

III. INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS

- Continue protecting its population from the effects of unilateral coercive measures and consider establishing a national mechanism to monitor and assess the negative effects of these measures on the enjoyment of human rights of the Syrian people (109.21 Nicaragua, 109.22 Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, 109.23 Democratic People’s Republic of Korea).
I. NATIONAL LEGISLATION

- Repeal all discriminatory provisions of the Penal Code, the Syrian Personal Status Law, the Nationality Law and other relevant legislation, regulations and directives (109.92 Ghana);9

- Amend the Penal Code and the Criminal Code to eliminate mitigated sentences for rapists who marry their victims for so-called “honour crimes” (109.14 Sierra Leone);

- Amend the citizenship law which prevents women from granting citizenship to their children (109.90 Namibia);

- Draft and adopt legislation to end violence and discrimination against women (109.176 Maldives);

- Strengthen and expand the relevant legal provisions for the promotion of the rights of women, in particular by strengthening their autonomy and advancing their participation in political, economic and social life (109.86, 109.87 Nicaragua, 109.89 Lao People’s Democratic Republic);

- Conduct a review of the Personal Status Law and other relevant laws, which will remove the provisions that are discriminatory towards women, such as those not granting them guardianship of their children, disabling them from travelling on their own with their children or not allowing them to transfer their citizenship to their children (109.91 Czech Republic);

- Adopt national legislation criminalising domestic violence (109.15 Sierra Leone);

- Take steps to incorporate provisions on gender equality and discrimination against women in the Constitution or national legislation (109.88 El Salvador).

II. VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND GIRLS

- Prohibit and undertake efforts to prevent all forms of violence against women, in particular sexual violence by Government forces and affiliated militias and non-State armed groups (109.177 Pakistan);

- Adopt a national plan to promote and protect the rights of all women and girls, in particular those victims of the conflict, making sure that resources for its implementation are available (109.30 Chile);

- Protect women and girls from child, early and forced marriage (109.180 Sierra Leone, 109.181 Ghana).

III. ACCOUNTABILITY AND REPARATION

- Ensure access by women victims of sexual violence to comprehensive medical treatment, mental health care and psychosocial support; and seek the assistance of relevant United Nations agencies and bodies in this regard (109.178 Singapore);

- Ensure accountability for the systematic and widespread violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law that are being committed on a large scale throughout Syria by all parties, some of which may amount to crimes against humanity (109.146 Portugal);

- Hold all those responsible for violations and abuses of international law, including human rights law and international humanitarian law, accountable in accordance with international standards (109.147 Sweden);

- Allow for thorough, transparent and independent investigations into all reports of alleged human rights violations and abuses, as well as violations of international humanitarian and human rights law since March 2011, and bring the perpetrators to justice (109.148 Canada);

- Combat impunity by ensuring that all persons guilty of what could constitute war crimes or crimes against humanity are brought to justice (109.149 Luxembourg).

IV. WOMEN, PEACE AND SECURITY

- Immediately implement Security Council Resolution 1325 (2000) and related resolutions on women, peace and security, including by taking special measures to protect women and girls from gender-based violence and to hold perpetrators of such acts accountable (109.85 Finland);

- Include the women’s rights perspective in the peace negotiations and, specifically, ensure that sexual violence concerns are raised consistently in the peace process and reflected in any peace agreement (109.179 Slovenia).
B. Children

I. NATIONAL LEGISLATION AND POLICIES

- Enact the Child Rights Bill (109.16 Maldives);

II. EDUCATION

- Guarantee access to education and take effective steps to address the educational needs of all children (109.182 Belgium, 109.192 Lao People’s Republic, 109.193 Pakistan 109.194 Singapore);
- Step up efforts for the protection of schools with a view to ensuring that education may continue (109.195 Argentina).

III. CHILDREN IN ARMED CONFLICT

- Protect children from the impact of conflict including from recruitment, kidnapping, abuse and sexual violence of children by parties to the conflict and punish perpetrators of these violations (109.93-94 Pakistan, Angola, 109.183 Chile, 109.185 to 109.187, Portugal, Singapore, Luxembourg);
- Adopt the measures necessary to protect and demobilise minors forcibly recruited as combatants, so that those responsible for such acts are brought to justice (109.184 Mexico);
- Protect children from the worst forms of child labour (109.182 Belgium, 109.191 Holy See).

C. Internally displaced persons & refugees

- Strengthen its cooperation with national and international non-governmental organisations in providing assistance to internally displaced persons (109.196 Russian Federation);
- Reinforce policies to address the needs of migrants and refugees by providing for the safe and voluntary return of refugees and internally displaced persons to their homes and ensuring the rehabilitation of affected areas in accordance with international law (109.197 Holy See);
- Strengthen its efforts to increase shelter options for internally displaced persons (109.198 Islamic Republic of Iran).
