Dear Madam/Sir,

I wish to submit my application for the position of special rapporteur on extrajudicial, summary or arbitrary executions. I have developed an extensive expertise in human rights, through my education and my career, both in teaching, in private practice and in international organizations. I have been interested in the right to life as a cornerstone of the fundamental rights for as long as I could remember. That was the ground for me to learn about the law of armed conflicts and about death penalty in order to broaden my understanding. It was also the ground for me to move to the international criminal law to better understand the ways in which the international community has embarked on sanctioning some of the major abuses of rights. This led me to a position in international criminal justice where I first assisted the judges in assessing the evidence to ascertain that any conviction is supported by the facts and their legal assessment, before working for the victims before the International Criminal Court.

In this vacant position of Special Rapporteur, I hope to bring the combination of good understanding of human rights and criminal law into play to support the Council in exposing the violations of the right to life in all its forms, and whenever it occurs. I am prepared to elaborate further on any aspect of my education and career in relation to the mandate, at your convenience.

Thanks in advance for considering my application, and best regards.
