

Rev. James Bhagwan is the General Secretary of the Pacific Conference of Churches, the peak regional ecumenical organization, which with its 42 member churches and national councils of churches, and Christianity being the dominant religion in the region, account for 80 percent of the Pacific population.