Subject: Submissions for Report on Stigmatization in the Realization of the Rights to Water and Sanitation

Greetings from Dignity International!

Dignity International, a global human rights organization focusing on Economic Social Cultural Rights feels that the rights to water and sanitation are crucial rights that must be delivered to those facing stigmatization immediately as water is a basic necessity for survival. This responsibility lies primarily in the hands of governments. With more than a billion people still lacking access to clean water, we do hope your report will call for governments to be held accountable and responsible in ensuring this particular right reaches everyone without any discrimination.

Kindly find attached submissions from our partners as listed below:
