III. MOTIVATION LETTER (600 word limit, must be included below and not in a separate e-mail or as an attachment)

(Text provided by the candidate)

Excellencies,

I hereby respectfully express my firm intention and resolution to be considered for election as Special Rapporteur on the human rights of migrants. I was encouraged by various stakeholders to accept the nomination contained in this document. After serene consideration, I have accepted to participate in this process, based on my conviction that I can serve the mandate independently and impartially, with the knowledge and experience that I have gathered over the years in the field of international human rights law and practice, particularly in numerous fields directly and indirectly connected to the protection and promotion of the rights of migrants, including asylum seekers. The questionnaire shows the knowledge and experience I have in the field over the last 15 years.

The current migration crisis in most parts of the world, which has reached levels only comparable to the one that Europe suffered during and after World War II, motivates me to deploy all my capabilities as special rapporteur, if I were to have the honor to be elected by the UN Human Rights Council. I am convinced that the role played by Special Procedures Mandate Holders is essential in providing creative solutions to human rights crisis situations. This is particularly the case in the area of migrants’ human rights. The reason for this, is that, unlike other areas where a treaty on the respective field has reached high levels of universality, the Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of their Families of 1990 has only 50 State parties. Furthermore, the Committee in charge of monitoring compliance of the Conventions not yet able to consider individual complaints or communications, since not even 10 States have accepted this procedure in accordance with article 77 of the Convention. Thus, the role of the Special Rapporteur on the rights of migrants is predominant over other mandates, since its competence to overview the situation of migrants is global, and may provide constructive and positive observations to governments of countries that are not parties to the Convention. One extremely important factor that should be considered by the new rapporteur is to improve and deepen the cooperation with other mandates which have an impact on the rights of migrants. That is the case, inter alia, of trafficking in persons and enforced disappearances. My knowledge and experience in those fields may be an important asset for the efficient performance of the mandate.

I have extensive knowledge of the United Nations Human Rights system, since 2004 when I was elected member of the Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary Disappearances for six years. and had the honour to be its Chairperson for three years. I also was the Chairperson of the Coordination Committee of the Special Procedures of the UN Human Rights Council in 2009-2010. I have been a member of the Committee on Enforced Disappearances since 2013 and its Chairperson since 2016, and my mandate expires in June 2017. These functions have given deep internal knowledge of the system. I understand the challenges that a UN human rights independent expert has to face in the performance of the duties, and I fully realize the high responsibility derived therefrom.
Based on the above, I once again wish to express my firm intention and resolution to be considered for election as Special Rapporteur on the human rights of migrants and also would like to express my gratitude for being considered as a candidate to hold such a high responsibility, giving you the assurance that I would deploy my best efforts to make a difference and an important contribution to the United Nations human rights work.
