Subject: Response of the Slovak Republic, encryption technologies in online communication

With regard to the verbal note of the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights of 16 January 2015 and the attached letter of the Special Rapporteur on the promotion of the right to freedom of opinion and expression, Mr. David Kaye, please find the following response of the Slovak Republic regarding the issues of security and anonymity online:

„The Slovak legislation does not restrict nor prohibit the employment of encryption tools in online communication.

Furthermore, a legislative obligation exists to protect personal data and classified information“

Sincerely,

Viera Motešická
