ASIA AND THE PACIFIC REGIONAL SEMINAR
Contribution of Development to the Enjoyment of all Human Rights
13-14 February 2023

Join us for the Regional Seminar on the Contribution of Development to the Enjoyment of all Human Rights, which will be held in-person and online. This seminar is the final in a series of five regional seminars that look at the role development plays in human rights, including the importance of States promoting sustainable development to enable better enjoyment of human rights.

Panels will discuss international cooperation for sustainable development, the commitment to ending poverty, the commitment to leave no one behind, regional development strategies, and the contribution of the development of clean and sustainable technology to the enjoyment of all human rights.

Interpretation will be available in English, Chinese and Russian. The seminar is a hybrid event and prior registration for in-person and online participation is required. Only registered participants will get a Zoom link.

The Programme is available on our website.
